DETAILED ACTION

The receipt is acknowledged applicants' amendment and request for RCE, both filed 05/14/2007.

Claims 1-28 are pending and included in the prosecution.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 05/14/2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The expression "at least ameliorating" does not set for the metes and bounds of the claims. Recourse to the specification, in page 7, lines 23-26, applicants stated:

"Treatment according to the subject methods results in at least amelioration from one or more symptoms of the underlying condition, as described above, for a period of time of at least about 3 hrs, usually at least about 6 hrs and more usually at least about 12 hrs or longer, e.g., 16 hrs, 24 hrs, or longer."

Therefor, the specification defined treatment method that results in at least amelioration from symptoms of the described conditions, and also the specification defined such amelioration for only specific period of times. Where applicant acts as his or her own lexicographer to specifically define a term of a claim contrary to its ordinary meaning, the written description must clearly redefine the claim term and set forth the uncommon definition so as to put one reasonably skilled in the art on notice that the applicant intended to so redefine that claim term. Process Control Corp. v. HydReclaim Corp., 190 F.3d 1350, 1357, 52 USPQ2d 1029, 1033 (Fed. Cir. 1999).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,139,861 ('861) combined with US 5,725,874 ('874).

US '861 teaches treatment of migraine or tension headache by topical administration to the mucous membrane of the mouth a NSAID including ibuprofen and ketoprofen (abstract; col.3, lines 40-43). Examples 1 and 3 show that NSAID is the only active agent present in the topical formulation.

Although US '861 realized that migraine and tension headache can be treated by topical administration of NSAID as the only active agent present in the specification, however, US '861 does not specifically teach administration to the skin.

US '874 teaches percutaneously absorbable formulation that is extremely safe and causes little side effects wherein the formulation can be in the form of cream or patch to deliver NSAID such as of indomethacin, ketoprofen, diclofenac, and ibuprofen (abstract; col.2, lines 61-62; col.3, lines 35-37).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to treat migraine or tension headache by topical administration of NSAID as disclosed by US '861, and administer the NSAID topically to the skin in form of cream or patch as disclosed by US '874, motivated by the teaching of US '874 that topical administration of NSAID to the skin is extremely safe and causes little side effects, with reasonable expectation of successfully treating migraine or tension headache by administering to the skin a topical formulation comprising NSAID as the only active agent.

Regarding the kit including written instruction to the consumer, as recited by claims 19-23, the written instruction does not make the claims patentable. See In re Ngai 03-1524.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The article "Migraine Headaches" teaches treating migraine by rubbing herbal medicinal formulation containing herbs known to treat migraine into the forehead and temples of the patients.
